Serving God in Central America

In late June and early July, we had two mission teams from Coronado serving in Central America. Our youth returned to Pura Vida Mission in San Ramon, Costa Rica, for their 5th year. An adult team returned to Guatemala with AIR (Alliance for International Reforestation) on their 3rd trip.

Emily Edwards, Director of Youth and Education Ministries, worked with the Youth Group for the preceding year raising funds for this trip with activities as varied as the annual Pumpkin Patch to raking leaves and doing other chores for church members. The large group of 24 youth and 6 adults spent a week working with children in Vacation Bible School, conducting a soccer camp, and building chairs for a local kindergarten class. The youth also brought back 72 bags of coffee, grown and processed in San Ramon, and sold them at church to raise money for the support of a child (and the child's family) during the next year.

Here are accounts of their experiences from three of the teens:

"Every morning on our youth mission project to San Ramon, Costa Rica, we would wake up early and get a good cup of Costa Rican coffee with breakfast and start our TAG time, which stands for time alone with God. We would leave for our first vacation Bible school site for around three hours each morning. At the sites, which resembled a playground that would be condemned in the US, both of our church's teams would start off playing with the children to build a relationship. We played soccer, football, baseball, painted nails, blew bubbles and more. Once everyone is tired and has plenty of bug bites then we move into songs where you try your best to sing in Spanish and be energetic and goofy with hand motions. After song, we would act out the Bible story and ask follow-up questions to apply the Bible story. Lastly we provide a craft that connected to the Bible story for the kids to work on. The kids have so much fun and don't want us to leave at lunch time, but we have to go back to the mission to eat our second helping of beans and rice for the day.

After lunch each team from our church goes to our second site for another three hours. In addition to VBS, my team held a soccer camp at an indoor soccer arena for ages 7 to 22. This is a humbling experience because most of our team plays on the high school soccer team so we thought we were pretty good, but almost every day the Ticos beat us.

Message from Peter

Peter Cottrell, Senior Pastor

Wow! What a whirlwind first month! Thank you all for your warm welcome. The cards, the party, the words of welcome . . . we are so appreciative of all of you in so many ways opening yourselves up to this new beginning.

We are still learning names, and you have been so helpful and patient with us. We are counting on a bit more help and patience.

Let me say that you all have confirmed that you are an amazing church. The staff and leadership are a dream come true, and what we continue to learn about your heart for missions continues to blow us away. I want to personally thank those of you who were able to purchase the 72 bags of fair trade coffee that the youth brought back from Costa Rica. What an exciting message we send to our youth when we so clearly support them in this way.

This week we will begin a sermon series entitled, Kingdom Bound. We will look at Kingdom building from a number of different angles, starting with Jesus' mission statement in Luke 4:16-21. If you have a chance to read it in a few different versions of the Bible, you will be prepared to listen more deeply in worship.

Luke 4:16-21 has been a clear and powerful reminder in my life. If Jesus saw it as his mission to care for the poor, the captives, the blind and the oppressed and I am a follower of Jesus, then how can I not consider this a prime part of my life? I was blessed to be the son of a devoted member of the United Methodist Women who was very clear about what that meant in her life. I watched as she gave time and energy, money and prayers to missions, ministries, and missionaries, both local and global, while at the same time seeing people talking about God's love and doing nothing for those in need.

I am also aware that God chose to send us out to care for these people in need. God could have spoken and changed the world; but, instead through Jesus, calls us to be unconditional love in the world. God chose the church to bring in the Kingdom. Luke 4:16-21 inspires me to lead us into action right here and right now. Join me . . . both in worship and in service.

During worship on July 26, Pastor Peter mentioned these two translations of the Bible as good contemporary versions. Both are available in print and downloadable electronic editions. You can also read both translations (and others) online for free at:

As I write this newsletter, the 9th annual Children's Music Day Camp is about to begin. It is such a pleasure to work with so many talented boys and girls from our community as they present the musical each year. If your family missed being a part of the camp or you were not able to come to the final performance, next year's Children's Music Camp will be held July 24 – 28, 2016. It's not too early to go ahead and put it on your calendar. You really don't want to miss it.

The Chancel Choir continues to provide music through the summer for the Sunday morning worship services. At the present time, the Chancel Choir is looking for singers in all the sections, but especially men. The Chancel Choir is a very meaningful ministry in the church and if you would like to be a part of this group, please contact Anita Wimbish at the Church Ministries ) Office (428 - 6252 ext. 119).

REFLECTIONS, an auditioned ladies ensemble, is taking the summer off. This group will begin rehearsals in October. There are openings in all vocal parts. This group rehearses on Wednesday nights from 6-6:45 p.m.

and usually sings on the third Sunday of each month. If you would like to join this group, please see Anita Wimbish or call the Church Ministries Office (428-6252 ext.119).

BAND of BROTHERS, our men's ensemble, is also taking the summer off. Rehearsals for this group will start in October. All men in the church and community are welcomed and are encouraged to be a part of this group. This group rehearses most Sunday mornings after the 9:30 a.m. service and usually sings on the second Sunday of each month. Contact Anita Wimbish (428-6252 ext. 119) if you are interested in being a part of this group.

The Music Ministry at Coronado provides music for all worship services each week, as well as special seasonal programs. If you like to sing a more traditional style of music, then the Chancel Choir, REFLECTIONS or BAND of BROTHERS is the place to be. If you like the praise and worship style of music, the 11 a.m. Worship Team would love to have you join them. Interested singers or instrumentalists are encouraged to contact Mike Williams, mike.williams@coronadoumc.org

At half time during the games, our team's members took turns sharing our testimonies about what God is doing in our lives. Then we would play again and get whooped some more. A new project our team took on this year at the mission's request was four people stayed back at the mission daily to build 54 kindergarten chairs from scratch for a local school. This fulfilled a need for the school and taught us some valuable life skills of cutting, sanding, and staining wood.

When we return to the mission after our second site, we have some free time. I chose to take a daily trip to the local store to get a Trit, which is a delicious ice cream treat, and then play intense card games with everyone else. The mission staff eventually sounds the bell for the third rice and beans meal of the day, and then, after dinner, we take a cultural outing like playing more soccer, going downtown to explore to city, or hiking to a beautiful waterfall. Every night we end with worship, which towards the end of the week became very emotional as we processed our experience. Then we hang out and fellowship until Emily makes us go to bed and get our much needed sleep to get up and do it all over again the next day. By Friday we were exhausted and had some much needed group bonding time at the volcano Arenal to process our experience from the week."

- Jared Smith, sophomore, NSBHS

"Although I was a new team member, I was ready to jump in and do whatever I could to connect with the people we met. I was also on the soccer camp team, and we were planning who would share on the first day. I found myself volunteering to be the very first person on our team to share a testimony about the things that God has done in my life. Being the first to share was intimidating, especially to the Costa Ricans who were older than me and with my friends there listening; but once I worked up the courage to share, it just came out. I was surprised how good it felt to share how God has worked in my life. Everyone around me and God heard my story, and I am pretty sure they won't forget it.

A specific child that I connected with was at our first VBS site. At this site there was a girl named Angelica, who was a bit of a challenge to work with because she was bossy and emotional. A lot of our team had a hard time connecting with her. One day she brought her puppy with her, and I was trying to get her to treat it better because she would just throw it up in the air or spin it around. So after a long period of time, I called one of the translators, Diego, over to ask her to play tag if she let the puppy go and would stop torturing it. She finally came and played with us and left the puppy alone. I think she liked having the individual attention. All the kids I worked with showed me how lucky we are to have better opportunities in life like quality education, supportive family, and general safety. It gave me a new perspective on how easy we have a good life and the challenges kids face in third world countries."

- Kaiden Busch, sophomore, NSBHS

"As my second time going to Costa Rica with the youth mission team, I was expecting the same experience that I had last year. I expected to go to different sites and play around with all the kids, bond with them and then cry at the end because of how much I would miss them. But this trip had so much more to it than just playing with the kids and getting to know God and myself better. Once we arrived we saw a similar sight as last year of little shack like houses, stray dogs walking the streets everywhere you look, and cars going super-fast. At first I thought again about how it must be so rough to live there, and I felt bad for the kids; but once I got to my first site, it was so amazing to watch the kids show us tricks or paint their nails. Soon all I notice is their precious, huge, smiles and all of the laughter that surrounds us. It truly does warm my heart watching them play and that they can be happy knowing that they don't have everything they want. Yes, I did bond very well with the kids; and yes I'm going to miss every single one of their little faces very much. But most importantly, I am so beyond impressed with everyone in my youth group. By the third day our whole team was sitting in a big circle in the mission lounge talking about how everyone's trip was going and how it had impacted our lives in so many ways.

I am always amazed that while on the trip none of us think twice about not having our cell phones or about what our friends are doing at home because in that moment we know that what we are doing is so much more important and so much more fun even though we may just be hanging out at the mission, playing cards with one another, or out playing soccer.

I never realized how much we bonded as a group until we all sat down in one circle and talked about how the trip was going and realized that we all felt the exact same way. I thought this trip was just to bond with the Costa Rican kids and have fun in another country with all of my closest friends, but it is became so much more than that. It really became about connecting to God by our group's shared experience that deeply changed us all on a spiritual level. I have no words that can accurately explain how much this trip has taught me and how thankful it has made me for all that I have here at home. I am more than excited to get to go back and make new memories and grow deeper next year.

Thank you so much for supporting our youth mission team by your prayers and financial support in this life changing experience."

- Kendall Galloway, junior, NSB HS

Eight adult volunteers from Coronado were part of the 35 volunteers which AIR-Guatemala hosted over five weeks this summer - weeks of hard work, spectacular scenery, volcanic eruptions, planting beneficial trees and building friendships. During those five weeks they had the joy of planting 3,605 trees by hand alongside Mayan farmers and AIR's amazing, faithful technicians. They broke previous records by building 14 brick stoves in one month! The stoves have a chimney to prevent smoke inhalation and lung disease, and they use half the amount of firewood as traditional fire-cooking.

News from the United Methodist Women

Our circles are already planning and crafting for the next Holiday Craft Bazaar. Get involved now with all of your handmade items. November arrives quickly, and we expect this year's Bazaar to be even bigger and better. We have so many creative women in our UMW. Many of the circles will not meet during the summer, so use this time to get ready for the Bazaar.

From a Christian Perspective

Jan Somers and I were part of a team that served in Guatemala last month. We were glad to carry four monetary donations of $25 from each of the UMW Circles to pass along as a "friendship gift" to projects benefitting women.

We chose the following groups to receive these gifts: a sewing program (see thank you note below; a program that connects adopted children with their birth-mothers when that contact is mutually desirable; a donation for thread supplies for a group of women weavers; and a book (in Spanish) titled "Where Women Have No Doctor" that will be a resource for health promotion at the AIR project where we served.

The AIR team thanks the members of UMW for their participation and the opportunity to spread goodwill and share God's love for all of us.

Hi Jan and Janet,

Greetings from Mayan Families. I met you yesterday showing you the Sewing Program here in Panajachel.

On behalf of the women in our Sewing Program, I would like to thank you for your support of the program.

Many women in rural Guatemala lack the skills to find employment and your contribution allows us to work towards providing them with valuable skills in sewing. Attached are some pictures as you requested of our classes in action.

Your donation will help support the Mayan Families Sewing School which is currently offering classes to over 30 women in skills that range from basic sewing to computerized embroidery. Our graduates have been able to increase their income through their trade and thus better provide for themselves and their families.

Thank you once again, and if you ever need any more information about the program, feel free to get in touch with me.

Best Wishes,

For those of you who are away or have not otherwise heard Pastor Cottrell talk about our recent security breach, we wanted to bring everyone into the information loop.

During the early morning hours of Thursday, July 16, the Church experienced a break-in and theft. We are truly counting our blessings as no one was injured, no money was taken, very little equipment was stolen and the degree of vandalism was nothing compared to what it could have been. With that said, a person or persons made their way into our church without leaving behind any sign of forced entry. It is believed that he/she/they had a key to the outside doors as well as knowledge of our operations and processes.

We have cleaned up broken glass, repaired damaged door jams, moved things back into place, are in the process of replacing stolen equipment and, most noticeable, have changed locks and many of our security procedures. We apologize for the inconvenience this is causing some of our team members and volunteers but sincerely hope everyone understands safety is of the utmost concern. Regaining control of keys and access to our facilities is the first and biggest step towards a higher comfort level, especially for our team members who work in our church each and every day.

We are continuing to pursue other actions and as we implement tools to help control building access. It is our desire and intent to lessen the current level of inconvenience some of our volunteers and members are currently experiencing. With that said, please understand some changes will remain and others will be implemented. It is a new day and a new time . . . you must only read the newspaper or watch the news to see proof of that. We are saddened to find ourselves in this position.

We thank all of you for supporting us, for the kind words of encouragement you have offered our staff and for your willingness to embrace change for the greater good. We are blessed, indeed.

ATTENTION ANIMAL LOVERS

One of the things most loved about our church is the number of caring hearts willing to spring into action when a need is identified. We love that about us! Sadly, though, our best intentions can sometimes have unexpected consequences.

The hungry feral cats roaming our campus are no secret. Unfortunately, their numbers are growing. We recently counted 14 hanging out by the Treehouse one evening. Some caring soul or souls has been feeding them. We find large amounts of dry cat food in the first parking spot by the courtyard, other places in the parking areas and most distressing, on the front entrance to the Treehouse.

The unfortunate and very dangerous consequence to what may be seen as an innocent good deed is the neighborhood raccoons are quite partial to cat food. The raccoons have lost all fear of humans and don't even blink when someone tries to scare them off the front stoop. That's so not good for our youth activities.

Please, please don't feed alligators, bears, foxes, manatees, sandhill cranes or raccoons. It often has more of a detrimental rather than helpful effect, can help spread diseases and . . . it's against Florida law!

We will appreciate your help with this problem.

DISCIPLE Bible Study - The Prophets

Do you know what a prophet is? Do you know what a prophecy is? Do you think of fortunetellers reading palms or snake charmers chanting in tongues?

Prophets were individuals called by God to deliver a message to His people, usually to correct a behavior or take an action to return to being in right living and in relationship with Him. It was not unlike a parent telling a child: I cannot tolerate a bully (inappropriate behavior), so stop hitting your sister (behavior/action change). If you hit her one more time, you will go to time out (consequences for disobedience). If you do not hit her, there will be ice cream for dessert (reward for obedience). We receive similar prophesies when our doctor tells us to change our diet to ensure a long and healthy life or when a teacher warns a student to remain in school to earn a good wage as an adult. These messages may have personal, social, health, moral, spiritual or political insights; but they are hardly sorcery.

The Old Testament Prophets were called by God, however, so prophesying was the ultimate lesson with the gravest of consequences or grandest of rewards. What did these Prophets tell God's Chosen People?

Did they listen? Who were the Prophets? Why did God choose those individuals to carry the message? How do those ancient lessons apply to our lives today? Can the ancient Prophets impact our world, our church or individually? Was Jesus a Prophet? Are there modern-day prophets? Can we prophesy?

All these questions and more will be discussed in a small group DISCIPLE Bible Study: The Prophets. Classes will be held every Tuesday evening from 6:30-9:00 p.m. for twelve consecutive weeks beginning September 15 in Room 121. Contact the Church Ministries Office or watch for announcements in the bulletin to sign up. Previous DISCIPLE classes are not required.

Coronado Justice Ministry (F.A.I.T.H.)

This fall our justice ministry will be inviting church members to attend house meetings during the month of October to discuss community problems and areas of injustice here in Volusia County.

Mark your calendars for Monday, October 26, 6:30 p.m., CCUMC to come and vote for the problem you would like the F.A.I.T.H. (Fighting Against Injustice Towards Harmony) organization to work on this year.

Stop! Don't dive into that pool, just come dive into the Boutique. You know in Florida summer goes on and on and by August we're getting bored with the same ole t-shirts and shorts. We have new inventory every day and all day.

The furniture store and warehouse are bursting at the seams. Good thing Mike has a new (second hand) truck for pick-ups and deliveries. Fall is not far around the corner and college dorms and apartments will need bargains. We are just the place to find some cool shoes, fashion t-shirts, designer jeans . . . you name it.

Sad to say, School will be starting right around the corner. Come check out our school supplies and clothes and shoes too.

Happy August . . . See ya' when the frost is on the pumpkin.

As we complete our summer months, we are proud to report our numbers were the highest they have ever been in the summer. We have had 84 students or more all summer long.

The fall school year begins August 24th. Our team is gearing up for another successful school year. We will have two VPK class rooms and our other class rooms are filling up quickly.

The school will be closed August 20-21 for cleaning and preparation for the first day of fall classes.

There will be an "Open House" for the children and their parents on August 21st at 6 p.m. The families will tour the school and have the opportunity to meet the teachers.

Welcome to the Cottrells July 5

On Sunday, July 5, we celebrated the appointment of Rev. Peter Cottrell as our new Senior Pastor. During the services, Peter and Carla were presented with items representing their ministry with us. Some of these had been on the altar since Rev. Bob Brown's last Sunday with us on June 21.

Later in the day we celebrated with a HUGE congregational dinner. It was a day of celebration for all of us.

Peter almost didn't get any food!
