Letter from Peter

Rev. Peter Cottrell

It really is hard to express the great joy and excitement that Carla and I are experiencing as we join the church family of Coronado Community UMC. We are anticipating putting down deep roots in New Smyrna Beach. Because of the connectionalism of the United Methodist Church, we feel blessed to have been involved in the same or similar missions and ministries. We have been walking the same path for years, and now we will walk together.

It is probably fair to say that we all are also a little anxious. We have had lots of “new beginnings” in our lives. New jobs, new schools, new communities with new friends, first dates, marriages, graduations as well as first Christmases without people close to us. The excitement has an element of grief and loss. The uncertain unknown of the future leaves us wondering.

Coronado is an amazing church, and we feel so blessed to be joining the team. It is so rare that a United Methodist Church is blessed with the same pastor for 34 years. This unprecedented continuity could be scary, but Bob and Becky have been so gracious and helpful to us, and we are looking forward to their friendship in the years to come.

Carla and I know that one of our first tasks will be learning everyone's names. We will need both your help and your patience. If you have a name-tag and can remember to wear it, that will be a great start. We will look for ways to connect, to hear more about you and get to know you. Take this time to also learn the names of those around you if you do not know them. I am sorry to admit it may take me more than one meeting to remember your name, and I may mix you up with others I am learning at the same time.

We will do lots of listening and learning over the next few months. There is so much to learn. Coronado is a great church and we are blessed to be part of the next chapter in an already meaningful book.

*With great hope and anticipation,
Peter*

10 Commandments for Welcoming a New Pastor

Brian McLaren

- I. Thou shalt not compare the old Pastor and the new Pastor, for the Lord thy God has made each person unique and wishes you to appreciate each original creation.
- II. Thou shalt not expect everything to stay the same when the new Pastor arrives. Nor shalt thou resist change, nor assume that change is bad, but thou shalt trust that the Lord thy God isn't finished with your church yet and is bringing change for your good and the good of your mission.
- III. Thou shalt not make graven images of thine old grudges, nor shalt thou keep stale disappointments in the temple of thine heart, but thou shalt forgive and move on in the grace of the Lord thy God, for how can thou ask God for mercy unless thou give mercy from thine heart?
- IV. Thou shalt not commit gossip, nor shalt thou fearfully complain, nor shalt thou listen to those who do, but instead thou shalt entreat them to adjust their attitudes and lighten up, for everything shall be alright, and in fact, shall turn out very well indeed – better than you can even imagine.
- V. Thou shalt not commit nostalgia or say that the old days were better, for in so doing thou shalt make thy judgment come true. Be assured that the Lord thy God is not falling asleep at the wheel, but will be with thee and surprise thee with abundant blessings, more than thou canst contain or count.
- VI. Thou shalt not factionalize nor create “us-them” divisions, but thou shalt unify with thy brothers and sisters even when they annoy or confuse you.
- VII. Thou shalt not come to the new pastor with your demands, pressure, complaints, bad reports, manipulations, threats, agendas, unsolicited advice, or snide comments. But thou shalt say, “Welcome! How can we help you? We love you! We would like to increase our giving significantly. We're praying for you and your family. Welcome to our community! We baked you some cookies!” And each week, thou shalt do so again and again until the new pastor begs you to stop.
- VIII. Thou shalt increase thy giving, and not withhold thy tithe, but invest thy money and thine heart in the future of thy community of faith and mission.
- IX. Thou shalt not come to thine old and former pastor with anything but praise for the new pastor, but thou mayest bring thy concerns to God in humble prayer, and if thou must, thou may also share concerns with the duly appointed leaders of the church.
- X. Most important, thou shalt trust God, and stay connected to God, and draw strength from God, staying deeply rooted in the message of God's grace. For God is good, and God will never leave you nor forsake you. You can count on that for sure!

As I write this newsletter article, the Chancel Choir is in full rehearsal for the annual Patriotic Concert. Singers from the area have joined us to present songs from the rich musical heritage of our nation. We would like to thank the Chancel Choir, area singers, Bill Anderson for his narration and Hannah Barlow, one of the 2015 Myhre-Burt Scholarship recipients for participating with us in this annual event which was presented Sunday, June 28, 2015 in the Sanctuary.

This year's musical for Children's Church Music Choir Camp is I Am. If you have children, grandchildren or neighbors who are trying to understand how to work together to use the gifts God has given us, then this musical is for them. It centers around living in a technological age where children are plugged in to using their cell phones and iPads. This musical incorporates the technology kids enjoy into a story that teaches them all about seeking God in their everyday lives. The dates for the camp are Sunday, July 26, through the presentation of their program on Thursday night, July 30, at 7 p.m. in the Sanctuary. The camp is open to all boys and girls entering 1st grade through 5th grade. Please register online at coronadoumc.org. A $15 fee will be charged for camp participants. There will be limited space, so make your plans now to attend. Registration closes July 13, 2015. Call the Church Ministries Office (386-428-6252 ext. 119) if you have any questions.

If you like to sing a more traditional style of music, the Chancel Choir is the place to be. They will continue to meet during the summer at 7 p.m. Wednesday nights in the Music-Lecture Suite. The Chancel Choir has a great time of fellowship, spiritual growth through the music that is sung and learning more about singing.

However, if you like praise and worship music, the 11 a.m. Non-Traditional service invites singers and band members to join both of these groups. Come and check us out. Please let Mike Williams (ccumcmike@gmail.com) know you are interested in being a part of this service.

The Music Ministry at Coronado provides music for all worship services each week, as well as special seasonal programs. If this is something in which you would like to participate or would like to learn more about, please let Anita Wimbish know by calling the Church Ministries Office (386-428-6252 ext. 119).

Response to Recent Events from our Bishops

Our FL Bishop, Ken Carter, wrote this response to the tragic events in Charleston last week on behalf of the Southeastern Jurisdiction College of Bishops.

In response to the murders of the pastor and eight others during a prayer meeting at the historic Emanuel African Methodist Episcopal Church in Charleston, South Carolina on June 17, 2015, the Southeastern Jurisdiction College of Bishops of the United Methodist Church offers the following response:

The College of Bishops of the Southeastern Jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church stands with our Methodist family at Emanuel AME Church in Charleston, with our brother Bishop Richard Franklin Norris of the Seventh Episcopal District of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, and with our colleague Bishop Jonathan Holston, of the South Carolina Conference.

We condemn this act of violence in the house of the Lord. We commit ourselves anew to the work of reconciliation in the midst of hatred. And we lift high the cross of Jesus Christ, as God's witness to the violence and division that is our human condition.

Please join us in acts of prayer, compassion and justice on behalf of our Pan-Methodist sisters and brothers.

We also commend the Statement on Racism offered at the Council of Bishops in Berlin, Germany, May 7, 2015."

Bishop Warner H. Brown, Jr., President of the Council of Bishops of the United Methodist Church, wrote this about the recent Supreme Court ruling on marriage equality.

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Mark 12:31 says, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself. There is no other commandment greater than these."

Throughout the history of the United States, the Supreme Court has been called on to ensure equality, liberty, and justice for all people. This can be seen in the abolition of slavery, the women's movement, the civil rights movement of the 60s, and now in the fight for marriage equality.

Today, in a 5 to 4 decision, the United States Supreme Court ruled in favor of marriage equality for all people.

For decades, The United Methodist Church has debated this issue. Next year when General Conference gathers in Portland, Oregon, the decision to change, or reaffirm the church's historic position will be considered. Pastors and congregations within our denomination hold opinions across the spectrum of this decision. Some sincerely believe our church policy is correct as it is. Others believe it is not correct. Across the spectrum, many believe our policy impacts our ability to make disciples of Jesus Christ for the transformation of the world. We seek to be a church that is inclusive enough to hold together people of different cultures, languages, and traditions.

In our Social Principles, United Methodists have stated our common belief around this value: We affirm that all persons are individuals of sacred worth, created in the image of God. All persons need the ministry of the Church in their struggles for human fulfillment, as well as the spiritual and emotional care of a fellowship that enables reconciling relationships with God, with others, and with self.

This Supreme Court decision calls attention to the difference between the laws of the United States, and the policy of our church. The law does not require anyone to violate their conscience of what God has called them to do, or their theological understanding. But, if we seek to be an inclusive church that serves all of our parishioners, and all of our neighbors, we will have to consider how we treat all people equally. The heart of our call to ministry is to be pastor to the people of the congregation, and the community, we serve. May we continue to be a people of prayer, and hope, as we work towards a day of equality and inclusion for all people created in the image of God.

Alice Stokes Paul, women's rights activist and leader in getting women the right to vote says, "I never doubted that equal rights was the right direction. Most reforms, most problems are complicated. But to me there is nothing complicated about ordinary equality."

Grace and Peace.

News from the United Methodist Women

Our circles are already planning and crafting for the next Holiday Craft Bazaar. Get involved now with all of your handmade items. November arrives quickly, and we expect this year's Bazaar to be even bigger and better. We have so many creative women in our UMW. Many of the circles will not meet during the summer, so use this time to get ready for the Bazaar.

From a Christian Perspective

The Coalition of Immokalee Workers fights for farmworkers' rights, and Florida United Methodist Women stand with them.

Michelle Bearden, author

Rosemary Uebel has lost track of how many marches and protests she's joined with other United Methodist Women members to create awareness and improve conditions for Florida's farmworkers. But there is one statistic she cites with pride. "I've never been arrested, not once," said the St. Petersburg, Florida, grandmother of five. "We make our case with love and peace. We keep it positive. And that approach has proven to be very successful."

Ms. Uebel, a member of First Methodist Church of St. Petersburg and the social action coordinator of the Florida Conference United Methodist Women, has seen her share of victories in the eight years she's been involved with the farmworkers' movement, led by the Coalition of Immokalee Workers. The latest came in January when The Fresh Market signed a Fair Food agreement with the coalition ensuring humane wages and working conditions for the workers who pick fruits and vegetables on participating farms.

The Fresh Market became the 13th major retail food corporation-and fourth in the supermarket industry-to join the partnership among farmers, farmworkers and retail food companies. With the agreement, the chain will increase its purchases by 15 percent from the coalition's Fair Food Program, which determines the growers whose practices are fair and socially responsible. The Fresh Market will also make an annual contribution to the Fair Food Standards Council, the third-party monitoring organization that oversees the compliance with the program's human rights standards.

"My faith tells me that we're all God's children," Ms. Uebel said. "That means I'm against slavery of any kind. And what happens with farmworkers is nothing more than modern-day slavery. Some haven't had a raise in 30 years! So I feel I have no choice but to stand up and speak out."

Although there is plenty of work to be done, supporters are encouraged by the momentum to improve the plight of migrants who toil in the fields picking crops like tomatoes, strawberries and oranges for poverty wages. And United Methodist Women members are credited for their high-profile role as important allies to bring about change.

"The United Methodist Women have been with us all along the way. They've offered so much support over the course of our campaign in so many different actions, right alongside the farmworker women," coalition member Lupe Gonzalo said through an interpreter. "We've demonstrated that we have the power together to make a change and to ensure human rights for farmworker women in their fields."

The Coalition of Immokalee Workers, or CIW, a worker-based human rights organization based in Immokalee, Florida, first came on the scene in 1993 when a small group of farmworkers began meeting in a room borrowed from a local church to discuss how to better their working conditions and their lives. Once the coalition launched a consumer network in 2000, its work became elevated on a national level. awards for its contribution to humanitarian issues, economic development and ending human trafficking. It has won some wage increases for Florida tomato pickers and led successful campaigns to bring fast-food giants such as McDonald's, Taco Bell and Burger King on board to buy its tomatoes only from suppliers that did not exploit workers in the field. Perhaps the most significant development came in January 2014 when mega-retailer Walmart joined the Fair Food Program, putting its immense clout behind the movement by pledging to expand its commitment beyond tomatoes and Florida.

Elena Stein of the Alliance for Fair Food, one of CIW's partners, said it would be impossible to measure just how important United Methodist Women's support has meant to this ongoing battle.

Parking Changes

Nancy Watts-Vanderbunt, Church Administrator

Please accept apologies for not receiving more timely explanation about the changes we have made in our parking areas. I know many of you were surprised to find chains across some of our driveways; and, if you are like me, surprises are not usually welcome (unless they go “varoom, varoom” and were designed in the Black Forrest or are measured by carats, clarity & color).

The events forcing us to “batten down the hatches” are too numerous to detail here but include overnight camping; consumption of alcohol and littering containers; extreme profanity and verbal threats (the alcohol and profanity may be linked?); drivers taking short cuts at high speeds through the paved areas where our staff, congregants and sometimes children are walking; but, worst of all, not having space on our own property for people attending worship or other church events. Anyone remember the two trucks one Sunday morning, each with a large trailered boat hitched to the back? Each took up 10-12 spaces. After unsuccessful attempts to find monitors for the parking lot, we were forced into quick action.

You probably first will notice we have towing signs posted at each entrance. In addition, we have placed chains across all of the entrances to the parking areas coming in on Cedar (except the Day School drop off area) and the entrance to the parking area coming in from Columbus to the Treehouse. At times you may also find the gates closed to the dirt parking area by the Boutique and Furniture Store and even the main entrance to the paved parking lot of the Church may be chained. Gates will be opened and chains taken down prior to worship services and/or Church events (such as Funerals, concerts, etc.)

During normal hours of Church operations, the chains will remain up on Cedar and the one entrance from Columbus. The result is everyone needs to enter and exit through the main entrance in front of the Fellowship Hall...no more circling around. We are in the process of getting signs printed explaining there is no through traffic Monday through Saturday as well as additional signs indicating parking here is for Church sponsored events only. Your understanding is so very much appreciated, and we regret these measures have become necessary. As parking becomes more and more of an issue in the Flagler Avenue area, things will only get worse so; at least for now, we hope this will help us keep everyone a little safer and protect our property.

Blessings to all!

Pura Vida Mission Trip

Emily Edwards, Director of Youth and Education

I am so proud of these students who took the first week of their summer to serve the children & families in San Ramon, Costa Rica with Pura Vida Missions — in La Fortuna, Alajuela, Costa Rica Beach towels, beach chairs, beach clothes . . . we have everything you need to go cool off at the beach. Your next beach cover-up or bathing suit might be right here waiting for you. Stop in soon!

Are your kids bored with summer already? We have tons of games and books, not to mention sports equipment. You know our prices bring you the Best Entertainment in town.

Our girls in the backroom can hardly price merchandise fast enough to send out to the racks and shelves. Come by and see for yourself how lazy hazy days are working out for our volunteers. They are certainly not lazy. Rev. Cottrell dropped into the Boutique after finding just the right chair in our furniture store for their new home. I think he's going to be a great customer. Welcome aboard Rev. and Mrs. Cottrell!

Happy 4th of July everyone . . . happy hamburgers and hotdogs and fireworks. Lets all remember to send prayers and thanks to all our service personnel as we continue to

Theme: Ocean/Father's Day/4th of July

Welcome to hot summer days of Florida! Our school year for summer officially starts June 8 and runs through August 19. We currently have 88 children registered for summer. As our summer gets under way, the school will become an underwater scene of ocean life. We will learn about our beautiful ocean that is in our own backyard.

Our garden is producing many vegetables and looking great. Thanks to all staff and parents who gave us vegetables and put in hard work so we are able to have plentiful spring harvest. The vegetables are offered to the children at lunch time, even if it's a little taste, so they can understand the complete cycle of the growing of a garden.

The school has grown in numbers and has been in a firm financial state for the last several years. This is due to the hard work of the CorMeth teaching team! This group of team members work very hard to keep the children safe, and they are always aware of taking care of supplies and materials. Hats off to a great team!

Have a safe happy summer!

Our children earned to conquer challenges with God's mighty power! They had an amazing adventure where they explored God's incredible power and love for all of his children through exciting experiences, fun-filled games and delicious food.

Saying Goodbye to Bob & Becky

Coronado had many special occasions to thank Bob and Becky for their 34 years of service and ministry to us. On June 7, we celebrated with them and their sons at both services and at a well-attended reception during the afternoon. Bob received gifts to aid him in retirement - a new flat screen TV, a cover for his boat, pictures of the church through the years for his walls, and a case of peanut butter and a spoon for those times when Becky is away and he is responsible for his own food. He was given a hand carved depiction of the Last Supper from all of those who have traveled with him to the Holy Land. Bob and Becky also received the gift of an endowed mission scholarship in their name ($10,000) to aid others in going on mission trips. We were glad to see Rev. Esther Robinson, Rev. Sarah Campbell, and Rev. Anil Singh along with many other former members and friends.

On June 14, we celebrated another milestone as Bob presided over the burning of the mortgage for the sanctuary complex. Jim Jones, one of the members of the original Building Committee, assisted him at the 11 a.m. service. Bob was surprised with the presentation of a bronze plaque, which will be placed on the building, which dedicated the campus to him in honor of his guidance in the building of the church we use today. At these services Bob also baptized two babies. A group representing Tutor Time at the Boys and Girls Club sang and presented Bob and Becky, who is one of the tutors, with gifts.

On June 21, Bob preached his last sermon at Coronado. At this very well-attended service, Bob and the congregation had the opportunity liturgically to say farewell to each other and thank each other for the years of ministry they have shared. Communion was served at each service, and Bob left a pastoral stole from Guatemala, the communion cup and plate, and the baptismal pitcher on the altar to be used by Rev. Cottrell during his ministry.

A Missions Scholarship Fund has been established in honor of Bob Brown and Becky Rutland. This will enable others to experience the joy and challenge of serving God and sharing love in unfamiliar settings . . . changing those lives the way their family has been changed. You are invited to share in the creation of this fund.

Checks can be made payable to CCUMC with "Bob & Becky Scholarship" on the memo line.
